

Are you Managing your Documents or Are They Managing You?

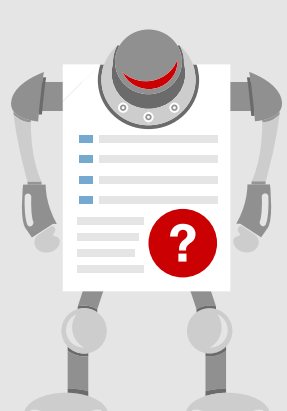

Your organization spends considerable time creating, retrieving, and storing documents.

Document management systems help give you greater control over your documents with audit, search, security, workflow, and routing capabilities. They also track and store data, help reduce costs, and help you meet regulatory requirements.

With so many companies lacking this essential tool, there's a huge competitive edge just waiting to be seized. Here's a few of the advantages you could realize:

Improved Economics:
Enable efficient processing of documents and save up to 30%.

Disaster Recovery:
Store documents in multiple locations, providing disaster recovery in ways not possible in paper-based systems.

Easy Retrieval:
Retrieve documents in seconds without leaving your desk.

Increased Security:
Track and control access to documents at the folder or document level for different groups or users.

Efficient Collaboration and Distribution:
Instead of sending paper documents, provide online access to the documents, saving print and distribution costs.

Consistent Indexing:
Documents are easily filed based on rules and accessible in multiple ways using search tools.

Cut Paper Costs:
Eliminate unnecessary printing and save between $.51 and $.70 per page.<sup>6</sup>

Increased Client Satisfaction:
Respond to client issues faster and with more accuracy.
